RAM Mounts Your Best Connection!

RAM Delivers More Mount for Less Money

By David Wilkinson

Wireless changed everything. From phones to PDA's to laptops, the modern day workforce is no longer tethered to a desk or office. Electronics manufacturers have been in an all out sprint to be the first to provide new products to make mobile computing easier, more powerful, compact and efficient. The problem was, until now, that few if any manufacturers of electronic accessories did little more than walk behind the electronics makers with their product offerings.

If you have ever made it onto the RAM email list, you know that they are in constant pursuit of the latest device and customer opinion to insure they have a mounting solution ready. Like it or not, their relentlessness has kept them right on the heels of the most popular electronics manufacturers in the world. From their home base in Seattle, Washington, new products are released almost weekly for practically everything. The team at RAM is in constant communication with some of the biggest names in GPS, PDA's, Laptops, Data Terminals,

Scanners, and the like. The last months have seen a hard push to offer ple yet versatile systems for mounting tops and hand held (Continued on pa
